From the Chairman's Desk

Three years have already gone by since ITRHD came into existence. Although we have in this short time moved from strength to strength, we have also had our share of disappointments and sorrows. Two of our most treasured Founder Trustees – Ishwar Das and Francis Wacziarg – have left us. May their souls rest in peace. In the crucial formative stages they guided us through difficult times and contributed in many ways; our successes are their invaluable legacy. We have also lost two of our good friends and members of our Advisory Council, Prof. G.K. Chaddha and Ambassador S.J.S. Chhatwal. We will miss them deeply, and our hearts go out to their families.

We are fortunate to constantly receive the full support and guidance of our Members, Trustees, HARTS and Advisory Council. The active involvement of the communities in our project areas gives us great satisfaction, as well as confidence in the long-term sustainability of our activities.

PROGRESS IN ONGOING PROJECTS

Azamgarh Creative Cluster Project

In the three Azamgarh villages we are slowly and steadfastly moving forward in making a noticeable difference to the lives of the people. Several activities in process involve all three villages:

- Development of the Creative Cluster as a new tourism circuit; we are developing this in conjunction with hoteliers in Varanasi.
- To provide new employment opportunities in rural areas, we are organizing skill development programmes. Azamgarh is the pioneer project area in this regard. In addition to training young village women as teachers, five young villagers have been sponsored for 18 months training in auxiliary nursing duties at a prestigious Birla Hospital in Satna.

Hariharpur (Musicians Village)

- With generous financial support from our members and friends – particularly Kito and Jane de Boer, the Bank of Baroda and the British Council – we have successfully set up a primary school to provide quality education. In the first year, 3 sections at pre-primary level enrolled 70 girls and boys from economically disadvantaged families. The 6 teachers were locally recruited from amongst young women graduates; after intensive training they have been doing an excellent job. They have also gained a sense of empowerment as they are now looked upon with respect both within the family and the community as a whole.

- The school has now moved from our rented quarters to the first phase of a building of our own, made possible by support from the British Council and with the enthusiastic involvement of the community in design and construction. Some funds were temporarily drawn from our corpus; but we are hopeful of the building being completed with support from ONGC. We have also tied up with an international organisation for providing safe drinking water to the children and to the community.
- As you know, the village has a unique musical heritage, where members of almost every family – from very young children to great grandparents – can be found practicing in mornings and evenings and where the sounds of the sarangi, sitar and tabla reverberate in the air. Plans are in process to establish a music academy with gurus from Varanasi providing professional training to the budding musicians. The Azamgarh Festival at IIC in 2013 provided the rare opportunity of three evenings of performances by the village musicians, receiving wide television and press coverage.
- There is a good possibility of INTO (the International National Trusts Organisation) acting as a sponsor for projects in Hariharpur, with major financial support from the U.K. Big Lottery Fund on a long-term basis.
- Special mention has to be made of the support and help of Hariharpur residents Kamlesh Misra and Pankaj Misra who played an important role in mobilising the community for developmental activities.

Nizamabad (Potters Village) and Mubarakpur (Weavers Village)

- For promotion of the unique Black Pottery of village Nizamabad and the exquisite saris produced by the weavers of Mubarakpur we have plans to provide professional expertise so that they can upgrade their designs to meet contemporary demands and also diversify to meet contemporary requirements by also producing dress material, scarves and stoles. Similar programmes aimed at design upgrade and diversification of product are also being planned for the potters.

- Selected artisans from both villages participated in the 2013 Azamgarh Festival at IIC in Delhi, and the potters had an exclusive exhibition in January 2014 at Alliance Francaise. At both venues, they were able to interact directly with their buyers.

Rakhi Garhi Indus Valley Excavation Site

As you remember, we entered into the Rakhi Garhi project because of the great importance of the site, which, when fully excavated, promises to be the largest and oldest Indus Valley site yet known. The attention that this will bring to the two surrounding villages will be immense, and we, therefore, decided that a comprehensive program should be devised to ensure planned and positive development of the area. We have taken the lead in coordinating the participation of state and central governments, and in securing the involvement of domestic and international funders.

- The Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) in partial collaboration with the Deccan College Pune is currently engaged in excavation operations at the site. ITRHD has successfully mobilised the community and secured their participation and support in village development programmes. The Panchayat has already donated land for a site museum and tourist facilities (2 acres each). The Government of Haryana has earmarked Rs 1.75 crores for the museum.

- Mr S.S.H. Rehman of ITC has set the ball rolling for a tourist lodge by giving us full benefit of his professional expertise and in addition, donating Rs 2.5 lacs out of his personal funds. In addition we have raised another Rs 1.5 lacs but we need much more before we can start. Efforts are on to rope in additional sponsors.
- In collaboration with Reliance Foundation, we have adopted a holistic approach to development activities in this village. An integrated program has been drawn up for activities relating to, among others, skill development, safe drinking water, sanitation facilities, drainage, internal roads, infrastructure for tourism, primary health care, organic farming, women's empowerment, and education (focusing on girls and primary levels). A detailed survey of the village has already been completed by a professional agency commissioned by Reliance. In the formulation of an integrated project for development, Archana Capoor, Dr. Psyche Nigam, Sanchaita, Preeti Harit, Vipul and Pallavi have been of great help.
- In addition to the archaeological site, the villages have a number of old but very dilapidated buildings in the Moghul style dating back to the 17th and 18th centuries. The owners are willing to hand them over for restoration and adaptive reuse as interpretation centres, tourist lodges, research centres, and other relevant activities. Reliance has offered to fund as a first step the restoration of two such buildings. This is a very exciting programme and will provide considerable employment opportunities to local residents.

Restoration of the 700 year-old Dargah of Sheikh Musa

The conservation work in this project in Nuh, District Mewat (Haryana) is nearing completion. Our conservation architect Preeti Harit under the supervision of our Trustee Prof. A.G.K. Menon has done a commendable job.

The project was entrusted to us by the Haryana Wakf Board, who contributed partial funding of Rs. 18 lacs. The balance came from the Governor of Haryana, (Rs.19 lacs) and ASI (Rs.5 Lacs). We plan to initiate development activities in the area as well, including introduction of bio toilet facilities, provision of drinking water and skill development programmes.

Maluti “Temple Village” Project, Jharkhand

Our experience in Maluti has, to date, proved frustrating. As we reported last year, this village is backward in every respect lacking electricity, water, sanitation facilities and education and health amenities. It is however, rich in heritage possessing 62 extant terra-cotta temples. The Global Heritage Fund in the US was interested in partnering with us in restoration and conservation and we were informed in writing that GHF would provide $300,000. On this basis we approached possible funding agencies like Tata who showed interest in supporting the project. GHF then dropped a bombshell by saying that they were no longer interested in the project as they felt it did not have much tourism potential. On my strong reaction to this about-face, Jeff Morgan, of the GHF promised a sum of $100,000 from his personal funds but prevaricated when asked to release the first instalment.

Things seemed more positive when in a meeting with the Chief Secretary of Jharkhand and his officers, our proposals for development activities in the village and a sum of Rs. 1 crore for temple restoration were approved. Official sanctions, however, were not issued and following the change in government things have been stalled. We have sent a proposal, supported by the National Culture Fund of the Ministry of Culture, to Coal India Ltd for funding of Maluti as part of their CSR programme. We await the outcome.

Barmer Musicians Project

As reported previously, we are working with Maharaja Gaj Singh (Bapji) on a program to provide sustainability and lifestyle improvement in two villages of Barmer district, each with about a hundred traditional “Langa” musicians. Plans will include the creation of a music academy, encouragement of vernacular architecture and development of rural tourism as a means of income generation. We are working on a proposal for consideration of corporate support under CSR.

NEW PROJECTS IN PROCESS

Nagaland Living Cultural Heritage Museum

My preliminary visit to Kohima in May 2013 and discussions with State officials led to the plan to develop a “Living Cultural Heritage Museum.” With funding from the Asian Cultural Council we were able to engage a eminent specialist from the Philippines, Augusto Villalon, as consultant. He and I made a survey visit in December 2013, during the famous Hornbill Festival in Kohima. We studied existing cultural resources, visited several villages, and had extensive discussions with State tourism officials, the Governor, and the Chief Minister. Our report, reproduced elsewhere in this issue, has now been submitted and we will soon embark on securing support from the state and central governments, as well as from Indian and international funding agencies. The State officials, especially Commissioner Secretary Tourism Himato Zhimomi and Officer Sharon have been extraordinarily helpful at all stages.

Andhra Pradesh / Telangana

On 10th January this year, we signed an MOU for the promotion of rural tourism in Andhra Pradesh with the Dr YSR National Institute of Tourism and Hospitality Management (NITHM), Hyderabad under the Department of Tourism of Andhra Pradesh. The MOU was signed in Delhi in the presence of Secretary Tourism, Government of India, Shri Parvez Dewan and Special Chief Secretary Tourism, AP Mrs Chandna Khan.

Immediately thereafter I travelled to Hyderabad, and had discussions on how to proceed with Mrs. Chandna Khan, officers of NITHM and our representative in AP, Mr. G. Kishan Rao. We decided that the weaving village of Pochampalli, 50 kms from Hyderabad should be our first project. Pochampalli is famous throughout India for its beautiful ikat saris, but the weavers are suffering from many problems and thus moving out to urban centres for employment. The proximity to Hyderabad offers the potential to develop Pochampalli as a tourist destination. We agreed on the following Action Plan:

1. Documentation of the heritage assets of the village
2. Preparation of a documentary film
3. Preparation of a coffee table book
4. Preparation of publicity material for tourists
5. Establishment of a show room for display and sales
6. Development of tourism infrastructure, starting with proper signages

We submitted a comprehensive project covering all the items mentioned above at a total estimated cost of Rs 13.5 lacs. The proposal was accepted and we sent a team of two young professionals, Vipul Bhole and Pallavi D to Hyderabad and Pochampalli. They have completed the project within the stipulated period and within budget. To give wider exposure to the weavers of Pochampalli and to put them in touch directly with the buyers, we are organizing a three-day Pochampalli Sari Festival at the India Islamic Centre in New Delhi, from September 28-30. This may be replicated in other states in future years.

We have had the benefit of tremendous support from Mrs Chandna Khan, who is a dynamo and got things moving very fast without the usual bureaucratic road blocks. Our HART in Hyderabad, G. Kishan Rao was an excellent link and helped to get things moving.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Three seminars are being organised during this financial year:

- Tourism Initiatives for Rural Development, July 25-26 at the India International Centre (Annexe) in collaboration with Crossroads Publications and IIC. Naveen Berry, Archana Capoor and Psyche Nigam are actively involved in organising this event.
- Role of Youth in Rural Development, November 2014 in collaboration with Jamia Millia University. Archana Capoor our Member Secretary is coordinating.
- Vernacular Architecture, in partnership with the School of Planning & Architecture, Bhopal in January 2015. Our Trustee Prof A.G.K. Menon and Mrs Meera Das are coordinating with SPCA, Bhopal

A Telangana Sari Festival promoting the Pochampalli sari tradition is scheduled from September 28-30 at the India Islamic Centre, New Delhi.

In September 2013 Trustee Maureen Liebl and I were invited by INTO to their Conference in Entebbe, Uganda. I represented ITRHD and made a presentation concentrating on the Hariharpur school project. Maureen represented Jodhpur's Mehrangarh Museum Trust, which sponsored her trip and gave a hands-on workshop on organizing museum shops. Both presentations were well received and useful contacts made. A number of articles from Uganda were included in our Explore Rural India issue following the conference and I was able to arrange for the Ugandan Tourism Minister and a group of artisans to participate in the 2014 Surajkund Mela. I was also elected unanimously to the Executive Committee of INTO.

In April 2014, I along with Maureen and Priya Paul (Chairperson of the Surrendra Apeejay Group) were invited to Saudi Arabia by Princess Adila, daughter of the King and Chairperson of the Saudi Heritage Preservation Society (SHPS), for discussions on new areas of cooperation between India and Saudi Arabia in the areas of culture and heritage. The entire trip was sponsored by SHPS and we were treated extremely well. Meetings were organised with numerous scholars, specialists and government officials in relevant fields and we were given intensive exposure to museums, archaeological sites and other activities. A dinner was hosted by the Princess where she outlined areas in which collaborations might be developed. An evening program was also organized where I gave a presentation on ITRHD and related activities. The visit was very rewarding, and we have sent our recommendations on future courses of action.

Our magazine "Explore Rural India" has been very well received. We have had excellent articles from contributors both in India and abroad. The present issue is the fourth in the series. I am grateful to the contributors and to all those who have come forward with advertising support without which it would not have been possible to sustain the magazine.

ADMINISTRATIVE

- Our accounts have been put fully in order and cleared by audit. Financial and Administrative Regulations have been framed and duly approved by the concerned authorities. Our budget for 2014-15 has been prepared and duly approved.
- A major concern is to augment our corpus funds so that from the derived interest, we can meet our administrative expenditure and also have seed money for formulation of projects. We have at present 8 corporate members at Rs 10 lacs each. We need to enrol at least 5 corporates every year. We had approached the previous Government for some Corpus Funds, as they had provided 5 crores to INTACH when it was set up and another 100 crores was given to INTACH last year by the Finance Minister. Our request for 5 crores, however, received no response. Let us hope that the new regime will be more sympathetic as our focus is entirely on the rural sector which is also one of their priority areas.
- CSR support for projects is another priority for us. We have hopes of success, as two corporates already have shown willingness to adopt villages and finance development projects on a holistic basis. We are encouraging corporate support for the Hariharpur school project as well. Our appeal for individual donations has elicited a heart-warming response, but corporate support will ensure permanent viability.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the end I must express my thanks and appreciation for all the help and support we have received.

Pamela Bhandari, as Member Secretary in the formative years, shouldered a heavy responsibility and ensured that we moved forward. Without her, our task would have been impossible to carry out. I am extremely grateful to her, for her support which she gave on a purely voluntary basis. A health problem has made it difficult for her to continue and we most reluctantly had to agree to her request to be relieved. We look forward to her return at the earliest possible time.

Archana Kapoor has taken over as Member Secretary. She was earlier a member of our Advisory Council and was actively involved in visiting villages, drafting project proposals, securing financial and in-kind support and helping in many other ways.

As Member Secretary she has already become involved to a much greater extent and contributed her professional skills and tremendous expertise as a pure labour of love. We cannot adequately thank her.

Yogendra Narain, our Executive Trustee, is a very busy person and much in demand to chair various bodies in addition to taking on specific responsibilities entrusted to him by government agencies. Despite such pressures on his time, he has unhesitatingly used his contacts for the benefit of ITRHD whether to get financial support for projects or for Corporate Membership. His help in drafting financial and administrative regulations, in the finalisation of accounts and preparation of the budget, as member of the Finance Committee was considerable and we are fortunate to have him as a key member of our team.

Trustees PR Khanna and Ashwan Kapur, along with S Krishnamoorthy as members of the Finance Committee have given us a wealth of experience in matters relating to finance and kept us on the right path with invaluable advice and guidance. D.V. Kapur with his distinguished administrative experience both in the government and public sector has helped us to tide over many problems. Harsh Lodha has brought us three corporate members, financed a key professional staff position, and is always ready to provide whatever support we need.

Our other Trustees have been tremendously helpful, especially Bapji of Jodhpur, Laila Tyabji, Anita Singh, Naresh Arora, Dr. Parvez Ahmed, the late Francis Wacziarg and Prof A.G.K. Menon. I must also mention the crucial support of my fellow Trustee and wife Maureen Liebl who spends many hours drafting and writing grant proposals, preparing presentations and contributing her invaluable professional experience and contacts. Our non-Delhi based Trustees have also been of great help whenever required.

Poonam Sharma joined us in September 2013 as Administrative and Financial officer and OSD to Chairman. She has provided much needed support and was largely instrumental in bringing the accounts up to date and in preparing the financial and administrative regulations for approval.

My personal professional staff, Ram Kumar Shiroha and Neeraj Ganotra ensures the smooth and efficient running of the office and administration of projects. Our junior staff member, Anil Kumar has established good rapport and excellent contacts with Panchayat members and the communities in general and provides a useful link with the villages in Azamgarh district, Haryana and Andhra (now Telangana).

Several Advisory Council members have been extraordinarily generous. Shiban Ganju has devoted considerable time to the formulation of architectural plans for the primary school in village Hariharpur and the Music Academy. S.S.H. Rehman has donated Rs 2.5 lacs from his personal funds to set the ball rolling for setting up of a tourist lodge in Rakhi Garhi. Kito de Boer and his wife Jane contributed very generously not only for the primary school in Hariharpur but for the potters of Nizamabad. My grand daughter Ankita Dhawan, with a little help from her parents, has donated generously to the Hariharpur school and promised to continue to do so every year. Monica and Michel Matter from Switzerland have been generous contributors, as well as directing the successful textile water treatment project in Khimsar, Rajasthan.

A special word of thanks goes to Sangya Chaudhary, the editor of our magazine who as a labour of love has spared no effort in giving her best to make the magazine a collector's delight, a very big thank you. To publisher Vikram Kalra who also has kept to schedule in producing a magazine of very high standard.

Sanchaita, whose NGO SANA is partnering with us in projects relating to bio-toilets and drinking water with her great enthusiasm and experience, has been wonderful to work with her.

We are grateful to the Asian Cultural Council in New York who provided financial support to the international consultant for our Nagaland project. Jet Airways and especially Ms. Ragini Chopra, have been silent but extraordinarily helpful and generous supporters in enabling us to visit our far-flung project areas within our limited budget. The India International Centre has generously provided facilities and venues to us on a complimentary basis, as also the World Wildlife Fund and the ITDC. The India Islamic Centre has agreed to provide us facilities for the Pochampalli Saree Festival on a complementary basis. Development Commissioner (Handlooms), Development Commissioner (Handicrafts) and ONGC and Sahara India have also contributed to the successful conduct of our seminars and festivals. Last but not the least the following.

1. Deepika Dass, Principal of New Heights Public School at Varanasi for conducting interviews to select teachers for Chacha Nehru Public School, giving rigorous training to the teachers, preparing the school curriculum and worksheets etc. and giving consultancy as and when required without charging anything;
2. Mondira Bharadwaj for preparing a detailed project report for setting up and running Primary Schools and giving two weeks intensive training to teachers in written and spoken English gratis;
3. Dr. Sudha of Shubham Nursing Home for giving First -Aid training to the teacher trainees, conducting free medical checks- up for the children, funding uniforms and donating utensils for the school;
4. Sangeeta Khanna for giving Yoga training to the teacher trainees voluntarily;
5. All the donors who donated Rs. 3000 and more for the education of children at Chacha Nehru School at Hariharpur;
6. Bina Mishra, Sarvamangala Mishra, Gauri Mishra, Priyanka Yadav, Ankita Mishra and Seema Kumari, teachers of Chacha Nehru School for performing better than our expectations and setting up a good example for other rural women to emulate;
7. Tanner Trust of U.K. for donating BP 4000 for providing technically superior kilns to the potters at Nizamabad;
8. ITDC Ltd. for providing venue and refreshments free of cost for our various meetings;
9. The Panchayats of Rakhigarhi for making 2 acres of land available to ITRHD for setting up a tourist complex and extending full cooperation to ITRHD in all matters;
10. Dinesh Malik, Sarpanch, Rakhi Shahpur and Rajbir Sheoran, Sarpanch Rakhi Khas for pledging support and cooperation to ITRHD in its proposed development programs;

11. Himato Zhimomi, Commissioner and Secretary Tourism, Nagaland for extending facilities to Chairman, ITRHD on his visit to Nagaland and his positive response to the proposal for setting up a living rural museum;
12. Rajat Berry and his team for maintaining ITRHD website free of cost;
13. Jet Airways for providing ten free return air- tickets every year;
14. Jose Dominic and Vinod Bhatia for hosting lunches during the seminar;
15. R.K. Bhatnagar for using his good offices with the district authorities of Azamgarh and the residents of Hariharpur to promote the activities of ITRHD and his help in organising the Festival of Rural Arts and Crafts of Azamgarh;
16. Arvind Chowdhry (Tiny) for making available to us his Sheikhpura Kothi near Rakhigarhi and providing hospitality.
17. Andre Dhawan (my son-in-law) and Bala of Xylemenic – handling water treatment plants, have offered to provide safe drinking water in Village Hariharpur.

We are sparing no effort in securing funds to keep the work going and to ensure the permanent viability of ITRHD projects. We have already begun to make substantial changes in the rural communities in which we are working, but much remains to be done. We appeal to all our members to help in this effort, through your own contacts in the corporate world and through your friends, colleagues and acquaintances. We are truly proving to be trend setters in conservation of rural heritage and development and look forward to working together on ever more exciting developments in the coming year.

S. K. Misra
Chairman
The Indian Trust for Rural Heritage and Development (ITRHD)

In Memory of Francis Wacziarg

For ITRHD, the loss of Francis after his long and brave battle is a great tragedy. And for those of us who were fortunate enough to call him a friend, his loss leaves a void that can never be filled.

For S.K., Francis was a long-time friend, colleague and kindred spirit. I met him and Aman when I began living in India in the mid-1980s. “Yes,” Francis would reply with his trademark twinkle, “but remember, I got here before you.”

In 1999, when I was given the task of establishing the Museum Shop in Mehrangarh Fort, Jodhpur, I turned to Francis for advice. No one had done such a project in India, and many were sceptical. Francis was not among them. He was enthusiastic and encouraging, and let us freely appropriate products from his Neemrana shop, at prices that I suspected were below his own cost. After some time, he turned us over to one of his own vendors, an export firm that, at Francis’ urging, was convinced to work with our fledgling museum shop. Although it was not easy for them to take on a domestic client, and although we could promise only tiny orders, because we came with Francis’ imprimatur, they agreed. This firm has become one of our most loyal and valuable partners over the years.

When the news came that we had lost Francis, my partner Amrita Singh and I had just returned to our hotel near the NOIDA trade fair. The next morning, with heavy hearts, we went straight to the booth of the vendor whom Francis had convinced, so long ago, to work with our untested Jodhpur project. We found the proprietors, father and son, close to tears. Over the next hour, they narrated the many ways small and large in which Francis had helped them and their family over the years, becoming a trusted friend as well as colleague.

We all have such stories, and memories. I treasure moments such as those watching Francis, Aman and S.K. clambering to the top of a hillock in Haryana where they were inspecting a possible Neemrana site, with Francis’ elegant elderly mother and her friend right behind them, Ferragamo shoes and stylish suits slowing them down not a whit. Sitting on the lovely terrace of the Verandah in the Forest, hearing the extraordinary story of his life during a long lazy evening, I began to understand how this unique spirit had been formed, partly inherited from his very special parents, partly forged through the long and creative interaction between him and Aman, as they envisioned – and then made into reality – things of which others had never even dreamed.

From S.K.’s activities as Director General of the Festivals of India, and in the government as Secretary of Tourism, to the years as Chairman of INTACH, to the recent work at Alliance Francaise, Francis was always there. When S.K. left INTACH and began developing the concept of a new organization based on rural heritage, Francis was again there, joining as founding trustee, generously contributing advice, insight and wisdom, as well as funds. Others may have found the idea unrealistic, but Francis was never daunted by the challenges of following a dream, and with his essential involvement, the Indian Trust for Rural Heritage and Development (ITRHD) was born and began to flourish.

Such a gentleman, such a friend, such an Indian, such a rare and most excellent human being. Remembering his unflinching grace and good cheer even under extreme duress, we try to live up to Francis’ example. And so we resist the urge to cry, and instead smile, as we remind ourselves that we were truly blessed to have known him.
