Chairman's Note

This has been a most unusual year. The situation that we are faced with is unprecedented and one does not know when we can heave a sigh of relief. We have to live with it, however, and future activities and life styles will follow a totally different pattern. Planning has to be done accordingly. The initial lockdown was so severe that at ITRHD we had no option but to close shop for quite some time. Gradually we have been trying to resume normal activity as much as possible.

We had systematically been following a fixed schedule every year; with two of our prestigious publications coming out in January and July; our AGM being held in July where our Annual Report and Statement of Accounts were presented, and in the winter (November-December) the Azamgarh Festival was a major attraction.

Unfortunately, this year everything has gone topsy turvy. We are, nevertheless, trying to make up for lost time. The publications have been delayed and the AGM also by 3-4 months. The Azamgarh Festival hopefully will be held as in previous years in November-December.

Publications

As you know, for the last several years we have been bringing out two types of publications. One is a series dealing with specific themes relating to rural culture or way of life. This has included Traditional Cuisines of India; Oral Traditions, Myths & Legends of India; Rural Sports & Games of India; Tribal Culture of India; and the latest in the series – just released -- Traditional Healing Systems of India. These have been well received as they contain a wealth of authentic information and the authors are experts in their fields. The other publication, Explore Rural India, carries articles by specialists in India and abroad on different aspects relating to the rural sector in India and other countries; the underlying idea being to share experiences and learn from each other. From abroad we have had contributions from experts in US, UK, Canada, Russia, Slovakia, Uganda, Indonesia, Kenya, the Netherlands, Australia, Fiji, and a few others; from India we have had contributions from experts in diverse fields. All the above publications have by their quality and content become collector's items as the articles are not dated and have a long-standing value. These publications are for members, and are given as gift items, but are not for sale. They give us extremely good exposure and publicity.

Projects

Apart from publications, we have projects related to rural heritage spread over 8 States. These relate to conservation of architectural heritage, promotion and sustainable preservation of living traditions (such as music and craft), cultural heritage, and documentation of rural architectural heritage. Because a major goal of ITRHD has been to link preservation and enhancement of rural heritage assets with overall rural development, our project areas have also included such activities as primary education (with emphasis on gender and social inclusiveness), promotion of rural tourism, women's empowerment, youth involvement, skill development, awareness programmes through seminars and meetings, and waste management. Our active association with INTO (International Organisation of National Trusts) keeps us closely involved with related activities and trusts across the globe.

In the field of architectural conservation we established our credentials by successfully completing the conservation of a historic 700-year-old Dargah of Sheikh Musa in Nuh in the State of Haryana funded by the Haryana Government, ASI, and the Haryana Waqf Board.

This was followed by the Jharkhand Government entrusting us with 2 major conservation projects at a cost of Rs 16 crores. The projects were prestigious and related to the conservation of 62 terracotta temples (dated to the 18th and 19th centuries) in the village of Maluti and planning for the preservation of an historic jail in Ranchi where the tribal leader Birsa Munda had been incarcerated by the British. The first phase of the Maluti temples has been completed as also the Birsa Munda Jail in record time of 9 months against the targeted time of one year. In order to ensure that these projects adhere strictly to conservation norms and are not subjected to unnecessary criticism, we have had evaluation reports from outside agencies like the ASI and the firm of Abha Narain Lamba in Mumbai. These professional evaluations assure the confidence level of our clients. A proposal had been submitted to the Airport Authority of India for setting up a training cum Management Institute in Maluti where the terracotta temples are located under their CSR programme. They had earlier agreed to finance the project for Rs 3 crores, but due to some misunderstanding with the State Govt the funds were not transferred. AAI however have agreed to reconsider and a final decision is awaited.

In the coming years shortage of water resources will emerge as a major problem world over. India will have to start planning from now in order to avert a major crisis. We in ITRHD are now engaged in identifying suitable projects where there is a possibility of reviving traditional water sources, such as steppe wells. In Haryana alone we have discovered 4 steppe wells that have significant architectural significance in addition to the potential for water supply revival. We then approached the Finance Commission of India with the request that suitable recommendations may be made by them either to the Government of India or to the State Government concerned to enable us to save these resources. The initial response has been positive; we are hopeful of success.

Steppe wells were not the only traditional source of water. In many villages elaborate well structures were created, often with great aesthetic architectural appeal, in addition to meeting the water requirements of residents and their animals. A CSR grant from a Bhiwani based company in Haryana, Hindustan Gum & Chemicals Ltd., enabled us to take up the conservation of neglected historic wells with potential for recharging, in the villages of Gujrani and Kaunt. Work is nearing completion on the three wells in Gujrani at a cost of Rs. 43 lakhs. Work in the village of Kaunt will be taken up on receipt of more funds.

Our Architectural conservation team, headed by our Vice Chairman and Trustee Prof. AGK Menon, has submitted projects for consideration of the State Governments of Himachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand.

Bilaspur in Himachal Pradesh, on the banks of the river Sutlej, was the capital of the erstwhile state of Kahloo. The river banks have some extremely important temples in the Nagra style, with immense religious and archaeological value. The construction of the Bhakra Dam across the river in 1962, however, displaced 256 villages, and submerged the old Bilaspur town and the temples. Every year, after the water level of Govind Sagar Lake recedes, the submerged temples become visible. There were originally 28 temples, built between the 8th and 19th centuries, but at present only 8 exist. The rest are believed to either be buried below the silt or have been washed away. A letter giving the outline of the project was sent by ITRHD to the HP Government in August 2018, followed by a series of meetings and discussions. On the request of the government a detailed presentation was made in December 2019 and a final decision is awaited. Because of the pandemic decision making has slowed down, but we are ready as soon as circumstances permit.

We also were advised that Uttarakhand was looking for professional institutions that could undertake surveys, documentation, and preparation of detailed project reports for integrated conservation, landscape and development projects for about 350 historical temple sites. ITRHD offered its services and a meeting was held with the Director of Culture in December 2019. The matter is still under consideration though the Director had promised to get a decision expedited. During the meeting a request was also made for ITRHD's help in setting up a small museum in Pithoragarh. A proposal with budgetary requirements was immediately sent, with a reminder in August 2020. The matter rests there.

In our internal discussions a view was expressed that ITRHD could break new ground and meet a real need by creating an ITRHD Rural Conservation and Development Institute. Accordingly, a brain storming session was held and a decision taken that we would begin by organising an international conference on lesser known Buddhist Built Heritage, to be held in Delhi in the spring of 2020. Mr K.L. Thapar, Trustee and Head of the prestigious Asian Transport Institute, very generously offered his premises not only for the Conference but for the Conservation Institute as well. It was, in fact, his suggestion to start with Buddhist sites as it would attract trainees from neighbouring Buddhist countries and give us international exposure. Under the direction of Prof. AGK Menon, preparatory meetings were held with two key resource persons, Vikram Lall, architect and expert on Buddhist architecture, and Pravin Srivastava, former DG ASI, to plan conference details. A meeting was subsequently held in November 2019 with the current DG ASI who supported the initiative and agreed to participate in the conference. The DG also suggested that an initial conference of Regional Directors of ASI be convened to acquaint them with the project and bring them on board as stakeholders. Instructions were accordingly issued for necessary follow up action but the pandemic soon after put a halt to our schedule. In the meantime, we are exploring possibilities of networking with other like minded non-government organisations like INHAF HABITAT FORUM working in the field of built heritage and rural development. We will be picking up the threads from where we left as soon as circumstances permit.

Documentation

An ambitious dream project is to begin detailed documentation and subsequent conservation of heritage resources in rural areas throughout the country. State Governments are being approached for support and UP has already agreed to partner with us in this on a phased basis. In Kerala, with our own funds and with logistical support from KITTS (the Kerala Institute of Tourism and Travel Studies) we completed a pilot project in the Munnar area, focusing on villages that have possibilities of becoming major tourist destinations.

For the long term project, we submitted a proposal to the Finance Commission requesting that a recommendation for a grant of Rs.100 crores be made by Government to ITRHD (as had been done by in favour of INTACH a few years earlier). We also suggested that a financing body be created at the national level for supporting conservation projects in rural areas all over the country. We await the recommendations of the Commission.

Living Traditions – Azamgarh

One of the objectives of the Trust is to promote and preserve living heritage, and we have projects underway with both music and crafts traditions. One of our earliest, and still most important, projects, involves a “Creative Cluster” of three extraordinary villages in UP's Azamgarh District. Hariharpur is a village of classical musicians, Nizamabad has an unusual tradition of black pottery, and Mubarakpur has a several hundred-year-old heritage of fine silk handloom weaving.

Hariharpur has been known for its tradition of Classical Music for the last 200 years. Many generations of musicians have been nurtured in every household of the village. Pandit Chhannu Lal Mishra, Pandit Bhola Nath Mishra, Pandit Gudai Maharaj, Pandit Sarda Sahay, the in-laws of Pandit Birju Maharaj and Pandit Rajan-Sajan Mishra are all from Hariharpur and grew up in this wonderful heritage atmosphere of Sangeet.

We found that the youngsters of the village were straying away from their traditional arts and taking up more lucrative work. To bring them back to their roots, we have arranged for a Guru, Pandit Ram Prakash from Bihar, to come to Hariharpur every month to teach them. For the last several years Festivals have been organised to showcase the talent of these musicians; in 2019 they were held in both Delhi and Lucknow. During the holidays musicians are sent to Varanasi for 6 weeks training in Sarangi to learn from Pandit Kanhaiya Lal Mishra. As Sarangi is in danger of dying out, our efforts to revive it are important.

Hariharpur belongs to the Banaras Gharana of music. But Hariharpur has its own identity and tradition of Purabai Gayeki, Thumri, Hori, Chaiti, Tarana, Sadra Dadra Kajiri, and Jhoola, and has been one of the well recognised off shoots of the Banaras Gharana with a distinguishing personality of its own.

In preserving the crafts traditions of Azamgarh, we have had good results in giving a new lease of life to the potters of Nizamabad and the handloom weavers of Mubarakpur. The Azamgarh Festivals we started in 2013 in Delhi, and later extended to Lucknow, have enabled these crafts persons to showcase their products in these two major cities without having to depend on middlemen. ITRHD takes care of all their expenses through corporate funding, and the entire proceeds of the sales go directly into the pockets of the crafts persons.

Mubarakpur has a famous weaving tradition of over 400 years, but in recent decades had lost its identity, with products being marketed as Benares weaves. Our festivals are helping Mubarakpur to regain a “brand identity” of its own. In addition, we have provided design and product diversification assistance. The weavers feel that the festivals also help in bringing them into direct contact with sophisticated customers, and from them they learn about contemporary tastes, especially in the younger generation. A young conservation architect, Shaista Parveen, faculty member of the School of Planning and Architecture, is from Azamgarh. She completed a very comprehensive study of the effects of the pandemic on the Mubarakpur weavers, and is coordinating plans for possible online Festival presence.

The same strategy we employed in Mubarkapur has been followed for the potters of Nizamabad, who produce exquisite black clay pottery -- the only village in the country that possesses this skill. One of their potters, Sohit Prajapati, was the recipient of the President's Award a few years back. This village also has a long tradition, as their ancestors had migrated from Kutch in Gujarat in the time of the Mughal Emperor Aurangzeb. The artisans had fallen on bad times, dependent on exploitation by middlemen, and the number of highly skilled potters had fallen to about 20. As a result of our intervention over the last few years through Azamgarh Festivals, assistance in securing the potters' inclusion in the annual Surajkund Mela, design and technical support and diversification of products, the number of artisans has increased to about 250. In addition, their credibility with banking institutions has seen a dramatic shift, and Sohit Prajapati was able to secure a loan of Rs. one crore to set up a training institute.

As a result of the pandemic this year the Azamgarh Festival will be on a more modest scale, and we are exploring the option of adding online exhibition and sale. These Festivals have provided much needed economic independence to the weavers and potters and have to a large extent helped to arrest the migration trend to urban centres. We have been successful in getting sponsorship support for the Festivals from PSU's, the GOI and UP Government, banks and private enterprises. The festivals have demonstrated that there is no decrease in demand for pure handlooms, but a more sustained and intense integrated approach by different agencies including Government, private sector, designers and other stake holders can bring sustainability and renewed pride and confidence.

Living Traditions – Barmer

The successful results of the crafts projects in Azamgarh led to a new initiative made possible by corporate funding, involving the traditional crafts of Barmer region in Rajasthan. In the past several years, encouraged by our Trustee Maharaja Gaj Singh of Jodhpur ("Bapji"), visits were made in his company to explore possibilities of reviving the traditions of the region. Progress was slow for want of funds till an approach to a Corporate yielded results.

In June 2019 Hindustan Gum & Chemicals Ltd. granted ITRHD support in the amount of Rs. 35 lacs for a project focussing on a crafts development initiative in Barmer. The initial activities concentrated on seeking advice and input from a variety of persons with experience in the area, and developing project parameters. Our Trustees Maureen Liebl and Amrita Singh have worked in Jodhpur for many years and have extensive knowledge of the region and handicraft issues. Maureen had also worked with both The World Bank and UNDP on handicraft development projects in India and Bhutan. They were thus designated as Co-Directors of the project.

As a first step a meeting was organised on 20 July 2019 at Umaid Bhawan Palace in Jodhpur. Bapji, who has been closely involved with the development of Barmer region, hosted this planning and analysis meeting for a number of persons with relevant experience. It was agreed that the project would begin by focussing on a small number of rare or endangered craft forms that had significant potential for ongoing sustainability. This was followed by a curated exhibition of crafts products in Barmer on September 4, 2019, where 45 artisans presented especially fine products. The exhibition was organised by the project's local consultant, Yashovardhan Shandiliya. The involvement and prominent presence of Maharaja Gaj Singh and Maharani Hemlata Rajye caused much excitement and brought substantial publicity.

We commissioned AIACA (All India Artisans and Craftworkers Association) to send two specialists to Barmer for this event; they conducted extensive interviews with the participating craftspersons, analysed all products involved, and then prepared a preliminary "Scoping Report." Step by step we then moved on. At the invitation of Maharani Hemlata Rajye, an exhibition and sale of a number of products was organised during the RIFF (Rajasthan International Folk Festival) event at Mehrangarh Fort in Jodhpur. This is an international festival drawing many hundreds of visitors from around the world as well as India. The Mehrangarh Museum Trust and its Director, Karni Singh Jasol, extended full cooperation. Six artisans from Barmer participated with selection of products and the results were extremely good.

Encouraged by the response at RIFF, Barmer was included as "guest artists" in the annual Azamgarh Weavers Exhibition at Alliance Francaise in December. Two master craftspersons participated and mounted an impressive display. The sales were significant. As with all such ITRHD events, expenses were borne by the Trust and the artisans retained all sales proceeds.

Regarding future plans, Covid has stood in the way of further exhibitions. However, our project consultant Yashovardhan continues to work with the artisans on design and production. Given the current constraints, we are now planning to produce a small pamphlet of products that can be ordered online. Barmer boasts of a very rich and vibrant heritage both tangible and intangible and it is proposed to bring out a publication highlighting this –including monuments, religious structures, performance arts, agricultural traditions, rural vernacular architecture, desert habitat, and the (as yet) unspoiled beauty of the area. It seems that there is immense opportunity to develop cultural and heritage-based tourism in the area, and ITRHD hopes to explore the potential.

A webinar presentation and discussion on Barmer's potential as a tourism destination is also being thought of. A detailed account of the strategy adopted step by step eventually would make it an excellent case study on how to revive endangered crafts.

International Collaboration: The Royal Gardens of Rajnagar

In addition to the Chapters that ITRHD has within the country a new and very active chapter has been set up abroad in Belgium. The Belgian team, led by the creative and energetic Geert Robberechts, had already been working for some time in the Khajuraho region in the former princely state of Chhatarpur (now in Bundelkhand). It is a drought prone area, mostly dependent on small scale agriculture and tourism.

A few miles from the UNESCO World Heritage Site of the western group of the temples of Khajuraho is a small village, Rajnagar, which is still the administrative and commercial centre of the region. It contains more than 15 existing examples of traditional gardens. All share the same features of 3-6 acres walled, with irrigation channels, a gate, steppe wells, a Kothi, a Shiva temple and samadhi platforms. According to tradition these gardens were laid out in Rajnagar when an heir was born in the Chhatarpur Royal Family. Bundelkhand is studded with these gardens which served as caravanserais for the Royal Bundeli families whenever they travelled throughout their kingdom.

The gardens of Rajnagar now form part of our collaborative --The Royal Gardens of Rajnagar.

The project aims at:

- Restoration of the existing 18th-early 19th century structures (walls, temples, Kothi, irrigation channels (steppe wells);
- Developing the gardens with their original functions of producing fruits, vegetables, and grain, by following principles of traditional farming and setting up of a community seed bank;
- Creating awareness programmes among the area's school children to promote their local heritage;
- Development of sustainable tourism, including promotion of local culture (music) and cuisine.

Two more gardens - Tiwari ka Bagh and Bashir ka Bagh are proposed to be taken up also. A visitor's Centre cum training centre is planned for Pateriya ka Bagh.

An ITRHD Chapter was set up in Belgium in July 2020 and an MoU signed. ITRHD Belgium will manage RGR as an ITRHD project and arrange for full funding through the FCRA account of ITRHD. The agreement also stipulates that to the extent feasible local people will be employed for the operations. ITRHD on its part will monitor the activities of the project, offer consultancy wherever necessary, conduct periodic inspections, and audit accounts. ITRHD has so far received Rs 17 lacs from the Belgium Chapter in our FCRA account. Currently due to pandemic, much of the restoration and agriculture work has come to a temporary stand still.

Community Development -- Waste Management

The Prime Minister has constantly been emphasising the need to keep our surroundings clean for healthy living. In this regard, we had for some time been planning a project for solid waste management in the village of Rakhigarhi in Haryana (better known as the site for the 5000-year-old Indus Valley civilisation) and were fortunate to get IL&FS interested. They provided funding of Rs 20 lacs, and for implementation of the project we partnered with the Manav Rachna International Institute of Research and Studies in Faridabad, Haryana, which had the necessary expertise. We awarded the project to them, after signing an MOU, in 2018. The project was intended to:

- Reduce environment pollution;
- Promote recycling and reuse of solid waste;
- Convert bio waste into organic manure;
- Generate employment opportunities for the rural poor.

It was very heartening to find the villagers totally responsive and keen to bring about a change in their surroundings and way of life. A good site was selected for installation of the bio composter, with land provided free by the village panchayat. All the other facilities required by the staff were set up to ensure smooth functioning. In addition, some hand rickshaws and motorised trolleys were procured for collection and dumping of solid waste. The project was formally inaugurated in December 2019, and has picked up steam. There has, however, been the expected slowing down because of the pandemic but we are hopeful of revival soon. The project has generated many benefits to the villagers and in particular the following:

- A much-organised cleanliness drive;
- Employment opportunities for collection, segregation and treatment of waste;
- Sale of bio manure;
- A cooperative model project with German technology brought by an University of repute;
- An initiative towards sustainable infrastructure development.

Based on the success of this project our endeavour is to cover more villages with similar projects.

Community Development – Women's Empowerment and Skill Development

Women's empowerment has always been one of our priorities, and we try to arrange ancillary activities in all our project areas to improve the condition of the women residents. These have included the following.

After setting up a primary school in village Hariharpur in Azamgarh district of UP, and ensuring that education of local girls would be a primary focus of the school, we decided to identify from the local community women who would serve as teachers. All had done their graduation, and after a selection process we sent them for teachers' training in Varanasi and Delhi. These women are now earning an income and have earned the respect of society and their families. They report that their advice is now sought on issues relating to the community.

In the Mubarakpur weavers village, women had played only a marginal role in the craft. In order to enable them to stand on their own feet and have earnings of their own we have with the support of Fab India and Usha company started tailoring classes for them.

In the Hariharpur musicians village, several women were given training in beauty treatment in Varanasi. This enabled them to set up business on their own, to meet the needs of would be brides particularly.

A very successful initiative in Azamgarh was an 18-month nursing training program arranged for a number of girls at a well-known Birla Hospital in Satna. The trainees, after completing their course, have now been absorbed by the hospital and have become earning members of their families.

In Haryana, our latest initiative has been setting up a Skill Development Centre at Bhiwani in November 2019, funded by Hindustan Gum & Chemicals Ltd (who are also funding the architectural conservation projects in the area). This enabled ITRHD to take up two projects:

- a) Tailoring and embroidery: Under this programme 60 women were to be imparted training free of cost in 3 batches over a period of six months, including field visits. After training each batch would be evaluated and certified by the centre. This programme will not only enable women to find employment in local boutiques but they can start tailoring work out of their homes as well.
- b) Computer skills: Functional Computer Training is an essential prerequisite today for employability in any organisation. A six-month Basic Computer Training Course for rural youth, male and female, was started in November 2019 wherein 40 people were to be trained in 2 batches free of cost over a period of 12 months. After training each batch would be evaluated and certified for their skills.

The projects were running smoothly till March 2020 when the lockdown was imposed. All activities have come to a standstill.

Community Development – Education

As mentioned earlier, a primary school was established in the Hariharpur musicians village, in response to the strong pleas of the residents. The Chacha Nehru Primary School was set up in 2011, initially functioning in hired premises. The school is open to children from all sections of the community, and provides not only free education, but also mid-day meals, books, uniforms, and medical check-ups. With support from the British Council, an international team of young architects worked with village residents to design a permanent building, and the first phase of this has been constructed. Plans are to add more classrooms, a kitchen, and dining room cum hall. The Airport Authority of India has agreed to provide partial finances. Covid again has been the spoil sport and work is at a standstill. We are looking forward to better times soon.

The school starts from nursery classes and will be up to the 6th. As earlier mentioned local women have been trained as teachers. We are trying to motivate teachers from Azamgarh (which is not far off) to come on a daily basis to supplement the faculty. The local teachers are married women, who will thus remain in the village. This has to some extent solved the difficulty of finding outside teaching staff who are willing to come to the village.

For day to day running of the school we depend on our members and friends, who are asked to finance the education of one child by a voluntary annual contribution of at least Rs 3000 per child. The response has been heart warming. So far we have been able to raise over Rs. 43 lacs which not only takes care of our annual expenditure but leaves us with a saving for the corpus. And in addition to the support we are receiving from our members we have successfully tapped other sources. An agreement was signed in February 2020 with Petronet Foundation for providing financial support for better syllabi books, training techniques through smart card electronic based boards, student uniforms, a modern school playground, and bi-annual health check-ups by doctors and their medical team. This project also has been delayed because of coronavirus. We are, hopeful however, to become operational by early next year.

Cultural Heritage Awareness

On the culture front ITRHD has been exposing audiences in Patiala to some of the best classical artistes in dance and music. The third in the series of these events was held from 22-28 February 2020 in the Durbar Hall of Quila Mubarak. A fashion show was held in the old Moti Bagh Palace. Senior artistes such as Raja Radha Reddy, Shubha Mudgal, Ustad Shahid Parvez Khan, Shovana Narain, and Ustad Zakir Husain participated. The Festival was entirely funded by the Punjab Govt. Our Trustee Anita Singh, very knowledgeable in matters relating to classical music and having extensive contacts with the music fraternity in the country, worked with the local Government officials, including the Deputy Commissioner Kumar Amit, and helped ensure a very successful event.

Folk Music Project

ITRHD had initiated a project aimed at preservation and compilation of folk songs and traditional Indian music and its distribution through CD's and other digital forms. An agreement to this effect was signed in February'20 with CultureGrind represented by Shri Anurag Shankar, who has handled similar projects in the past. For the project, Vice Chairman – Shri Yogendra Narain, has been able to obtain funding for this project - Rs.10 lacs from HT Parekh and another Rs.5 lacs from ICICI Foundation – Give India.

Project duration was for 7 months and music recordings would have at least 25 music pieces - one each from every State of India - a mix of existing but not very common songs and fresh recordings. Each music piece being recorded would have a duration of 5 to 12 minutes. The recordings would have a brief write up with location/picture on each music piece along with details on genres/styles of music/state of origin/list of compositions and singers.

In line with special issues taken out by ITRHD in the past such as Rural Sports and Games of India, Traditional Cuisines of India etc. we plan to have a separate publication based on the Folk and Traditional Music, write ups in the near future. A tie up with Google Art & Culture platform, for publicizing the project would also be considered once the recordings are ready for distribution.

The project, though delayed due to Corona pandemic and travel restrictions in the country, has been underway since early this year and we expect to have 50% of the work/recordings completed by January 2021. Remaining recordings in the second phase would depend upon the travel situation in the country.

Several years ago, ITRHD launched a project for setting up a living cultural museum in Kohima, Nagaland. Through the good offices of the Asian Cultural Council In New York, the services of an expert Consultant from the Philippines was made available to us. He and I made a couple of visits to Kohima, had discussions with local officials, and studied the existing infrastructure. Recommendations were made which included modernising the existing museum in Kohima, and setting up a new museum focussing on the 17 tribes of Nagaland as an introduction to the existing Hornbill Festival, where all the 27 tribes participate displaying their unique traditions in such areas crafts, cuisine, art, architecture, music and dance. This takes place annually over one week in December.

Two villages close to the Festival site were identified as living examples of Naga culture, life style, and traditions. We suggested that the State Government improve the connectivity to the villages and also the local infrastructure. In addition, we found a nearby village that had an interesting history and attracted local tourists. This village was unique in its natural heritage with rare bird and wild life, fauna and flora. Existing PG accommodation run by local residents was an asset, as they were well run, and judging by the remarks on the visitors books provided a memorable experience. While expecting the Nagaland Government to take steps to strengthen the infrastructure in areas suggested by us, on our part we undertook to get the Ministry of Culture to fund the Tribal museum. We were also hopeful of getting the services of international museum experts through our International contacts. However, to our disappointment, despite the initial enthusiasm shown by the State administration (including the Chief Minister), and despite numerous reminders, the State Govt went into deep slumber. It was an opportunity lost. You can take the horse to the water but you can't make him drink. We have not lost hopes, and efforts will continue to be made.

Social Media

We have been conscious for some time of the need to give ourselves greater exposure so that people get to know of the commendable work that is being done by ITRHD in different areas, and of encouraging participation. For this social media is of paramount importance.

Although our original website was attractive and has served its purpose, we realised this year that the time had come to upgrade it, so that it would accurately reflect the current range of our activities, provide the means for viewers to read our publications online, allow for interaction, and hopefully attract new members and new support.

At the same time, we realised we had become a bit behind the times in relation to social media and that we need to establish a stronger presence on Facebook and also become active on Instagram and Twitter.

These things all, of course, take time and much input to develop. After several meetings with our web design company, we focused on the changes to the website that we felt were most important. Maureen Liebl has been writing and rewriting the content with feedback and input from our other Trustees and officers. Madhu Khatri, Director in our office, developed a very comprehensive strategy paper for social media. Although it will take some time to gain real sophistication in this area we are at least making a beginning. We are now searching for a person with the relevant skills who can be engaged, at least on a part time basis, to handle the day to day updating that effective social media requires.

International Presence

ITRHD is an active member of INTO (the International National Trusts Organisation), that links national trusts and similar heritage organisations throughout the world. Founded in 2007 at an international meeting in Delhi organised by INTACH (of which I was then Chairman), the organisation, based at the UK National Trust, has now grown to a membership of 85 countries from an informal group of 20 that originally comprised mainly the developed countries of the West.

ITRHD was formally admitted to full membership immediately after our coming into existence in 2011, when we were made a very well-received presentation before the plenary session comprising all members. ITRHD has participated in the major biennial conferences of INTO in Dublin, Uganda, Victoria in Canada, Bali, and Cambridge. At Cambridge we were ably represented by our Director, Sangya Chaudhury. I serve as Emeritus Vice-Chairman of the organisation, and am also a member of the Executive Committee.

Jodhpur's Mehrangarh Museum Trust, with which we work closely, has also joined the organisation on our advice. In 2015 Princess Shivranjani Rajye of Jodhpur gave the keynote address at the Cambridge Conference. Maharaja Gaj Singh of Jodhpur ("Bapji"), who is one of our distinguished Trustees, has become a "Roving Ambassador" for INTO and very recently he addressed the online Executive Committee meetings.

The India connection was further strengthened in 2016 when the eminent Australian attorney and environmentalist Simon Molesworth, former Chairman of INTO, visited India at our invitation. He presented a lecture on heritage legislation to students and faculty at the National Law University Jodhpur and gave a well received public lecture organised by ITRHD in Delhi on World Tourism Day.

Every alternate year the Executive Committee of INTO meets in a different country. This year it had been scheduled for India, with the meetings in Jodhpur where Bapji and Shivranjani had arranged an elaborate programme. This, alas, had to be cancelled because of the pandemic, and the meetings held online. However, the Jodhpur atmosphere was conveyed with a special programme organised on video by Karni Singh Jasol (Director of the Mehrangarh Museum Trust), and with the assistance of our Trustees Maureen Liebl and Amrita Singh. Bapji's participation in this programme lent it a special charm. Once normalcy is restored we are hopeful of having the INTO team back in Jodhpur.

Rural Tourism Day, World Tourism Day

Promotion of Rural Tourism has been one of the major areas of ITRHD activity. A few years back ITRHD, in partnership with Navin Berry, a leading member of the tourism world, had organised a seminar in which active tourism stake holders in rural areas participated.

Another initiative begun several years ago is the observation of January 30 every year as Rural Tourism Day. Presentations are given by those who have made a significant contribution in the field. These have included Jose Dominic from Kerala, Ambica Beri from Madhya Pradesh, and Rawal Kishen Singh Jasol from Rajasthan. We are hopeful of being able to continue this in 2021.

On World Tourism Day this year an initiative was taken by our Jharkhand representative (HART-Heritage Ambassador for Rural Tradition) Shreedeo Singh, who organised a webinar discussion on rural tourism. I led the discussions and was followed by our Trustee Prof. AGK Menon, followed by Smt. Nidhi Khare, Additional Secretary in the Government of India, Prof. Ajay Khare, Member National Monument Authority, and Shri Sanjay Seth, MP. The webinar had 245 registrations, and 100 people were live. The 75-minute programme was well received and was followed by a Q&A session.

A mention may be made of the recent amendment to the FCRA ACT. We are examining its implications for ITRHD though on first reading it appears that we are safe. Perhaps the smaller NGOs may face problems.

HELPING OUT

The country is facing a severe crisis because of the Covid pandemic, putting a great strain on our resources. It therefore becomes the duty of all of us to not just depend on Government support but to help in whatever way we can. ITRHD as an NGO is not flush with funds but we felt a moral obligation to contribute our little bit.

The President of an organisation 'Wishes and Blessings,' Dr Geetanjali Chopra, was approached by the Delhi Government to provide ambulance services to poor people not only for hospitalisation but also for transporting them to corona care centres, institutional quarantine centres, and to testing facilities. We were in turn approached by this NGO and we have decided to donate a one-time sum of Rs. 1.5 lakhs in 3 instalments. This has been most gratefully acknowledged.

The ITRHD Team

ITRHD in a short span of 9 years has been able to live up to our expectations and even scale new heights only because of the unstinted support we have received from our members, Trustees, friends, corporate sponsors, central and state government agencies, and other well-wishers.

We are fortunate that our Trustees are all distinguished persons in their respective fields. They have constantly been actively involved in our activities and we have benefited from their advice. Our special thanks go out to Bapji, Maharaja Gaj Singh of Jodhpur, with whom initial discussions took place in Jodhpur, along with Maharaj Jai Singh Jaipur, when we were together for Bapji's son's wedding. This resulted in the establishment of the Trust in 2011. Since then Bapji has been a guide and mentor to all of us and has never hesitated give his time whenever required.

Mention must also be made of Raja Malvinder Singh, whose house guest Maureen and I were in Patiala, where we spent hours discussing the role the proposed Trust should follow. Yogendra Narain (former Secretary Defence and Secretary General Rajya Sabha) and Naresh Arora (a distinguished attorney) agreed to join as Trustees and helped in the drafting of the Memorandum of Association of the Trust. Both of them later contributed substantially to the activities of the Trust; Yogendra Narain as Chairman of the Finance Committee and as Vice Chairman of ITRHD, and Naresh Arora enabling us to avoid legal hurdles. Yogendra Narain has also been of great help in raising resources for the Trust.

Two other Trustees, both also now serving as Vice Chairpersons, have contributed in large measure to our success. Prof. AGK Menon, outstanding member of the conservation architecture profession, has ensured that our conservation projects adhere to well accepted norms, and has also identified new projects which we are trying to secure. Maureen Liebl has been my sheet anchor, cheerfully taking on whatever is entrusted to her. Her involvement with crafts, particularly the Barmer project, has given a new direction to our approach. She also writes and/or edits all of our grant proposals and prepares all our powerpoint and other presentations. Her experience as Associate Director of a Rockefeller Foundation and with The World Bank and other funding agencies has been of great help. SSH Rehman, an icon in the hospitality industry, initially from the army, was at the forefront of growing ITC's hotel business and soon became a role model for young entrepreneurs. We were fortunate to get him as one of our Trustees and we benefited considerably by his vision and foresight. He was generous enough at the very early stages of our taking up Rakhigarhi, the Indus Valley civilisation village as a development project that out of his personal resources he donated a sum of Rs.4 lacs to set the ball rolling for raising funds for a tourist complex in the village.

In the field of crafts there are few people with the experience or knowledge of Laila Tyabji and we are fortunate to have her as a Trustee. We depend on her advice and suggestions, which are truly invaluable. K.L. Thapar, Founder Chairman of the Asian Institute of Transport Institute and formerly with the Planning Commission, has guided us on the right lines to avoid unnecessary difficulties. He has also secured financial support for our publications. Dr. D.V. Kapur is another Trustee with an impeccable record. He was the Founder Chairman of the National Thermal Power Corporation and later served as Secretary in the Ministries of Power, Heavy Industry, and Chemicals & Petrochemicals. He has been with us in every meeting ready with fresh ideas based in vast experience. Anita Singh, well known for her intensive knowledge of classical music and her contacts in the field of culture has contributed substantially to developing classical music talent in the village of Hariharpur and giving the gharana an identity of its own.

Two other Trustees, P.R. Khanna, an eminent Chartered Accountant with over 50 years experience, and Ashwan Kapur, an extremely successful and creative businessman, have not only lent their weight to the Finance Committee but have been assets on the Board as well. Harsh Lodha, head of the Birla Corporation, readily agreed to come on our Board and gave us the start that we badly needed by getting three of his companies to become Corporate members at Rs. 10 lacs each. In addition, one of his Bhiwani based companies has enabled us to embark on 3 projects by providing financial support under their CSR programme. Amrita Singh is one of our younger Trustees. Her own professional experience in the corporate sector plus her many years as the wife of a senior Army officer have enabled her to make extremely useful contributions to us in many projects, particularly on issues relating to craft development, as well as in general administration and project development. Other Trustees, also particularly Dr. Parvez Ahmed and Louise Khurshid have been of great help from time to time.

Apart from the Trustees, Archana Capoor, formerly C&MD of the Tourism Finance Corporation of India, was persuaded to accept the honorary position of Member Secretary of the Trust. She has shouldered a great responsibility, taking care of the finances of the Trust ensuring full transparency and accountability, taking administrative decisions with speed and tact, and ably organising various events particularly the Azamgarh Festivals. One of our younger officers, Sangya Chaudhury, joined us after earning a degree in art history at SOAS London, and holding positions at INTACH, the Planning Commission, and a UN organisation. She agreed to work with us in an honorary capacity as Director, taking on, among other things, the editorship of our publications. She has also become involved with crafts development and youth activities. Her experience, sophistication, and youthful exuberance have all been great assets.

With our previous Financial Adviser S. Krishnamoorthy leaving us and moving to Bangalore for reasons of health, we were able to secure the services of Rajendra Sharma who had been with the Tourism Corporation of India for nearly 20 years. He also agreed to work with us in an honorary capacity, and his objective and well-considered advice is invaluable to us.

Preeti Harit, a young architect but with considerable experience, has handled our conservation projects in Haryana and documentation of tangible heritage in the Munnar region of Kerala, displaying great professionalism in adhering to accepted norms of heritage conservation. The eminent architect Shibani Ganju, a long-standing friend, has actively been involved with the designing of the primary school building in village Hariharapur as a labour of love. He has visited the site on a number of occasions and spent hours, along with his assistant Prateek, in detailed planning for implementation.

ITRHD has representatives in different parts of the country who serve in an honorary capacity. They are designated as HARTS (Heritage Ambassadors for Rural Tradition). They are our eyes and ears, giving us crucial local feedback and suggestions. Special mention must be made of Shreedee Singh, based in Ranchi, who with his excellent contacts with the State administration has been able to expedite the signing of MoU's for two major projects. His drive and energy have contributed in no small measure to their successful implementation. Yashovardhan Shandilya, consultant to the Barmer Crafts Initiative, has recently been appointed HART for the Barmer region. He has been a great find, with indefatigable energy, personal contacts within the region and total dedication.

Vikram Kalra was our publisher since the inception of our publications and he has ensured excellent quality. We have had to now part company because of his other responsibilities and health problems, but we wish him well.

Day to day operations are well managed by our dedicated staff. Arun Gupta has been handling finance and is back in the saddle after a brief illness. He is one of our oldest employees and has made his presence felt. Madhu Khatri joined us relatively recently after an impressive corporate career. She has already made her mark in supervising administrative matters and overseeing projects. Ambika Surendran serves as Private Secretary and I would be at sea without her. She takes a heavy load off my shoulders and can be depended upon to deal with people with tact and courtesy. Neeraj Ganotra has been with us for a long time and is a man for all seasons, digging up old records, sorting out computer problems, overseeing many financial matters, and moving about here and there as needed. Arvind Yadav, with special training in rural development, can also be depended on to successfully attend to project field work, whether relating to crafts in Barmer, youth affairs in Hariharpur, cultural extravaganzas in Patiala, or the Azamgarh festivals. Some of those who were with us for quite some time and have now left for personal reasons and did commendable work included Gulshan Gojal taking care of our finances and Anil Kumar who was able to establish good contacts in the villages and could be depended on to take on odd jobs which he handled with diligence. Another very dependable person, Pankaj Mishra was our man in village Hariharpur. He took care of local problems taking a big weight off our shoulders. It came as a big shock when we learnt that he had suddenly passed away. May his soul rest in peace.

Our thanks go to our Chartered Accountants J.P. Kapur & Uberoi through their main partner Vinay Jain. They have been with us since the inception of the Trust. Our new auditors V. Sankar Aiyar &

Co, represented by their partner Karthik Srinivasan, have managed -- despite understandable constraints due to the virus -- to give the finishing touches to our Annual Accounts, and we appreciate their commitment.

Finally much of our success we owe to the financial support we have received for our projects from the State Governments of Jharkhand, UP, Punjab, Haryana and Telangana, from the Ministry of Culture Government of India, who awarded us a grant of Rs. 5 crores for our corpus, from the Archaeological Survey of India who gave a grant of Rs. 10 lacs for a conservation project in Haryana, to the Haryana Waqf Board for support to the same project, and to the Ministry of Sports for supporting our publication on Rural Sports. In addition, the corporate sector and PSU's have responded to our appeal to sponsor special events. The generous CSR support we have received from Hindustan Gum & Chemicals has enabled us to develop projects in Bhiwani (Haryana) and Barmer (Rajasthan). Our thanks also go out to the number of companies who very kindly agreed to support our publications through their advertising support. It would not have been possible for our publications to be so well received if it had not been for the excellent articles contributed by experts in different fields on non-payment basis. And finally a very big and heartfelt THANK YOU to all our members and my many friends, who have generously given financial support as well as advice, suggestions, and constant encouragement.

We now look forward to better times when we can move on with greater speed and vigour.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

Report on the Audit of Financial Statements

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Indian Trust for Rural Heritage and Development(the trust),which comprise the Balance Sheet as at 31st March, 2020, the Statement of Income & Expenditure and a summary of the significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the financial statements, read with other notes given thereto, give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India:

- i) in the case of the Balance Sheet, of the state of affairs of the Trust as at 31st March 2020; and
- ii) in the case of the Income and Expenditure Account, of the surplus for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) issued by ICAI. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Trust in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of financial statements, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the financial statements

Management of Trust is responsible for the preparation of these financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position and financial performance of the Trust in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the accounting standards issued by ICAI, to the extent applicable. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records for safeguarding of the assets of the Trust and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate implementation and maintenance of accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statement that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Trust's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Trust or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Trust's Management is responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibility for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatement can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Trust's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Trust to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

Other matters

We report that:

- a) We have sought and obtained all the information and explanations, which to the best of our knowledge and belief were necessary for the purpose of our audit;
- b) In our opinion proper books of account have been kept so far as appears from our examination of those books; and
- c) The Balance Sheet and Income and Expenditure Account dealt with by this report are in agreement with the books of accounts;
