Chairman's Message

The Indian Trust for Rural Heritage and Development came into existence in 2011. After serving as Vice Chairman and then Chairman of INTACH for over 10 years, I felt the urge to devote my efforts to our rural heritage, and perhaps to link its sustainable preservation with rural development. With this idea in mind, I had extensive discussions with Maharaja Gaj Singhji of Jodhpur ('Bapji'), Raja Jai Singh of Jaipur ('Joey') and Raja Malvinder Singh of Patiala. The concept of ITRHD took shape, the Memorandum of Association was finalized, and the Society formally registered in June 2011.

In 2013 we decided to share our vision with a wider audience, and began bringing out an in-house magazine, Explore Rural India, with articles by Indian and international scholars and specialists. To date, 13 issues have been published. The positive response to this led to a decision in 2017 to begin creating special publications on specific themes of rural Indian life. To date, there have been five such volumes: Traditional Cuisines; Oral Traditions, Myths and Legends; Rural Games and Sports; Tribal Culture and Traditional Healing Systems. All these publications have proved to be extremely popular and have acquired the status of collectors' items. The next special volume, soon to go to the press, focuses on Folk Tales of India. All issues of the above publications can be seen and downloaded on our website. All these publications have been sustained through advertisements and some donations. We are grateful to all those who have supported us. A word of thanks to our editor Asha Rani Mathur who despite her health problems has maintained the quality of the publications.

Lack of adequate financial support continues to be our main problem. In the past we were able to secure projects on nomination basis - we were not required to bid along with others, These included two Jharkhand Government conservation projects relating to the conservation of 62 terracotta temples in village Maluti and the conservation of a historic jail in Ranchi; the conservation of a historic Dargah in Nuh, Haryana, financed primarily by Govt. of Haryana with some contribution by ASI and the Waqf Board of Haryana, and a tourism project relating to village Poochampalli in Telangana funded by the State Govt.

UP Govt. entrusted two projects to us also on nomination basis - a rural tourism project for Azamgarh district, payment for which was made but on payment of GST which was also their liability they are dragging their feet. An MOU was signed with UP Tourism for detailed documentation of rural heritage in the villages of districts Varanasi and Ballia at a total cost of Rs.18 lacs. The work was completed to the fullest satisfaction of the Government, but they refused payment on two grounds that the MOU was not reflected in their records and that the policy of allotting projects had since changed in favour of bids. Despite several attempts the State Govt. have refused to budge. Any policy cannot have retrospective effect and an MOU signed in good faith by both the parties must be respected. Such unethical behaviour on the part of the State Govt. is a matter of shame. For an NGO to bear the liability of over Rs.18 lacs for non-fulfilment of a contract is a matter of deep concern.

It may be mentioned that out of the funds we receive for projects 10-15% was earmarked to cover administrative expenditure. With Corporate and State support being considerably reduced we are facing serious problems in meeting administrative costs. Fortunately, our ongoing projects have not faced a major crisis as we are able to utilise the interest generated from a grant of Rs.5 crores received from the Ministry of Culture, private donations and some Corporate support.

OUR ONGOING ACTIVITIES: PRIMARY EDUCATION

Our endeavour has been to provide facilities for primary education to begin with for those unable to afford basic education and also to focus on the girl child. Keeping this in view a primary school was set up in a heritage village Hariharpur in Azamgarh district of UP in 2013 without any Government support. This village was selected because it has the distinction of a 400-year-old classical music tradition. The school provides free education and to ensure that there is a deep connect between the teachers and the taught, the teachers have been recruited from within the village - young women graduates from the village after being trained in Delhi and Varanasi and put through refresher courses from time to time.

Starting in a rented building the school through donations has managed to create basic infrastructure of few classrooms and a multipurpose hall to also serve as a dining hall with a modern kitchen for mid-day meals in addition a few more classrooms. We have yet to come up with full-fledged school building.

Looking to the future we wish to ensure that the school does not face serious financial difficulties. The setting up of a corpus for the school with a target of Rs.5 crores should enable the school to meet difficult situations through utilisation of the interest. We have so far raised Rs.40 lakhs. We need your support to move towards our goal.

Future plans include additional focus on extra-curricular activities, yoga, and health care. For training the teachers from time to time and for providing additional facilities we are specially grateful to Mondira Bharadwaj and Rashmi Malik, Principal of Salwan School, Gurugram. Special thanks are due to my good architect friend Shiban and his assistant Prateek because of whom construction of some parts of the school building finally took off after remaining in limbo for a considerable time.

LIVING TRADITIONS

In setting up ITRHD, one of our objectives was to provide support to craft and music traditions which were struggling to survive. Azamgarh district in UP provided us with a 'Creative Cluster' of three unique villages: the silk handloom weavers of Mubarakpur, the potters of Nizamabad and the classical musicians of village Hariharpur. Each of these extraordinary villages had traditions that were several centuries old. The crafts persons, however, were being exploited by middlemen and were finding it difficult to survive, and the classical musicians were struggling for recognition and opportunity. At an early stage we decided to bring the talented inheritors of these traditions to Delhi where under the umbrella of The Azamgarh Festival the artisans were provided excellent venues where they could sell directly to customers, and the musicians performed before sophisticated audiences from whom they received the recognition that had been eluding them. All expenses, travel, board and lodging, fixing of venues, and publicity were organised through sponsors by ITRHD. These annual festivals have helped the crafts persons to gain some economic stability. The musicians acquired a distinct identity and came to be recognized as from the Hariharpur Gharana. A few years later artisans from the Barmer region of Rajasthan, known for their unique skills and products, were also included in the Festival as special invitees.

A more recent project, initiated in 2019, involves the revival and sustainable development of traditional crafts in the Barmer region of Rajasthan. Activities have included workshops for young residents in villages with unique and endangered traditions, exhibitions and sales in Delhi and in Jodhpur's Mehrangarh Fort, activities involving environmental education and conservation, and a number of other interventions. An especially innovative activity involved training young girls in villages famous for (the traditionally exclusively male) music traditions. We embarked upon this with some trepidation, not wishing to create a social uproar. To our pleasant surprise, not only the girls, but also the male musicians and the community leaders were tremendously supportive. Another activity involves the comprehensive development of a village in which a unique environment and an extremely committed group of local residents is forging impressive results in both the sustainable conservation of precious resources and the strong growth of awareness in both the younger and older generations. All these activities have been made possible because of the generous CSR support provided by the Bhiwani based Hindustan Gum and Chemicals Ltd.

As we have seen the positive benefits that accrue to the participants of our activities in Azamgarh and Barmer, our endeavor now is to identify and provide support to artisans and performing artists with historic traditions from other regions as well. Gwalior is next on our list.

BUILT HERITAGE

Sustainable conservation of our built heritage is also one of our primary objectives. Initial support came to us from some state governments, particularly Jharkhand and Haryana.

The Jharkhand government on nomination basis, without asking for bids, entrusted to us two major conservation projects at a cost of ₹16 crores. These involved 62 terracotta temples in the unique living temple village of Maluti, and a historic jail in Ranchi in which Birsa Munda – a renowned tribal freedom fighter – had been held as prisoner. After restoration the jail was to be converted into a tribal museum. Both these projects had the blessings of the Prime Minister. The Ranchi Project was completed before schedule and the Maluti temples are in their second phase.

In Haryana's Nuh village, a 700-year-old Dargah of great architectural and historic value was on the verge of collapse. Its conservation was entrusted to ITRHD with funds provided by the Haryana Waqf Board, the Haryana Government, and ASI. This work also has been successfully completed.

We were extremely gratified that our capability to handle conservation projects was recognized by the XVth Finance Commission, which specifically recommended to the Government of India that 4 major conservation projects in Punjab and Haryana, totaling ₹38 crores, should be implemented by ITRHD.

DOCUMENTATION OF RURAL HERITAGE

It is our firm belief that in order to make an informed and sensitive impact, it is necessary to initially focus on detailed documentation of rural heritage all over the country. Such an exercise will enable us to determine which of the properties are in most need of conservation, and can thereafter be put to adaptive reuse, either for the benefit of the community or for purposes of rural tourism promotion.

Our belief in this is so strong that we began, with our own resources, to undertake as a pilot project a detailed documentation in villages in the Munnar region of Kerala. This led to the UP Government entrusting us with documentation of the rural heritage in the districts of Ballia and Varanasi. This was successfully completed, and the UP Government appreciated the efforts made by us and the quality of the publications produced. However, due to bureaucratic procedures, payment of ₹ 18 lacs has not yet been made despite our best efforts.

As a new Finance Commission has recently been constituted, we plan to make a presentation for support of further activity in this area. In working on the above mentioned projects our architect Preeti Harit did a very commendable job. Shaista Parveen also prepared an excellent rural tourism project which was accepted by UP Govt.

RAKHIGARHI PROJECT

One of our first projects involved Rakhigarhi, a village in Haryana, that may soon enter the world heritage map. Had it been discovered earlier it would have been the first archeological site belonging to the Indus Valley civilization. Some archaeologists claim that the earliest settlements in Rakhigarhi in fact predate the Indus Valley civilization. Excavation has been done by the Baroda institute headed by Vasant Shinde. ITRHD's role has been to create awareness among the residents, and to promote infra structural development. As a result of our efforts a museum building and accommodation facilities have been provided by the State Government. We also have plans to promote developmental activities, youth involvement and rural tourism.

SETTING UP OF AN ACADEMY FOR CONSERVATION AND MANAGEMENT OF RURAL HERITAGE WITH INITIAL FOCUS ON BUDDHIST HERITAGE

A new project that currently is engaging our full attention is the setting up of an academy for management and conservation of rural heritage, with the initial focus being on rural Buddhist heritage. As there are quite a few institutes for general conservation of heritage, emphasis on Buddhist heritage will fill the need for such a specialized facility and will also perhaps attract persons in this field from other countries with a Buddhist tradition. In order to carry the idea forward and to elicit views relating to the proposed academy, we are organising an international conference to discuss and debate various issues. For this, we have entered into partnership with various relevant organisations, including:

- School of Planning and Architecture Delhi
- International Buddhist Confederation
- Gautam Buddha University Noida
- Buddhist Monuments Development Council
- American Buddhist Association

We are also in discussion with the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) for possible collaboration. Tentatively, the Conference is planned for the winter of 2025.

FUTURE PLANS

Gwalior is next on our list for development of rural crafts, music and cultural and cuisine centre with focus on the Chambal Region. It is proposed to hold the Azamgarh-Barmer Festival showcasing music and crafts traditions of these regions in Gwalior in November this year in 2024. The venue will be a unique heritage property, Deo Bagh with a totally rural ambience in the heart of Gwalior and owned by the family of our HART (regional representative) Rani Uma Devi Jadhav, a person totally dedicated to promotion and preservation our cultural heritage.

In Punjab we are exploring possibilities of documenting traditional wall paintings. We will also be making further efforts in taking on projects in other states (an uphill task but or policy of “Nil Desperandum” - never give up of Documentation of Rural Heritage).

Youth involvement in heritage - on our list of activities has made a beginning but cannot be said to have taken off - will need a big push. Tree Plantation on a large scale has already been taken up and will be carried forward with greater momentum.

In order to focus on CSR funding, we have plans to recruit a person specially charged with the responsibility of tackling the Corporate Sector and also to prepare a shelf of projects for which funding would be sought from different sources. Skill Development projects particularly for women will be receiving our special attention.

Some projects suggested for consideration - in Ganjam, Odisha Baghu Nachu, a folk form of dance nearing extinction; in Nishika, the Bazargaon Cluster of Temples in need of conservation; a pilot project to revamp the traditional Kathak villages of India (a concept note has been prepared by Shovana Narain); also exploring the possibility of Balaposh wrap arounds, a skill practiced by a single family in a village in Murshidabad, Bengal. There is still much to be done. It is a constant uphill battle but hopefully with more funds forthcoming we should be able to extend our activities.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We are fortunate to have received continuous support from so many people that it is difficult to name each individual. For the running of the village primary school our members and friends have generously responded to my appeal for donations; similarly for construction of additional facilities for the school, our advertisers for our magazines, our contributors of articles without taking a naya paisa, and above all our Trustees our three Vice Chairmen, our Member Secretary, our Financial Adviser, Members of the key Committees - Finance Committee, Executive Committee and our Advisory Committee members, Corporate sponsors, State governments which reposed their trust in us. And finally, our back up staff which kept the wheels of our organisation moving and they have to be mentioned by name -

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Members of Indian Trust for Rural Heritage and Development

Report on the Audit of Financial Statements

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Indian Trust for Rural Heritage and Development (the society), which comprise the Balance Sheet as at 31st March, 2024, the Statement of Income & Expenditure and a summary of the significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the financial statements, read with other notes given thereto, give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India:

- (i) in the case of the Balance Sheet, of the state of affairs of the Society as at 31st March 2024; and
- (ii) in the case of the Income and Expenditure Account, of the deficit for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) issued by ICAI. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Society in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of financial statements, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the financial statements

Management of Society is responsible for the preparation of these financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position and financial performance of the Society in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the accounting standards issued by ICAI, to the extent applicable. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records for safeguarding of the assets of the Society and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate implementation and maintenance of accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statement that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Society's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Society or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so. The Society's Management is responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibility for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatement can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Society's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Society to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

Other matters

We report that:

- (a) We have sought and obtained all the information and explanations, which to the best of our knowledge and belief were necessary for the purpose of our audit;
- (b) In our opinion proper books of account have been kept so far as appears from our examination of those books; and
- (c) The Balance Sheet and Income and Expenditure Account dealt with by this report are in agreement with the books of accounts.
